Executive Field Summary

Full-lifecycle property managed-repair TPA uniting legacy water-mitigation specialist CodeBlue, exterior/roofing network MADSKY, and window-claims platform AccuWin under one contractor network and IICRC-aligned drying framework.

Core Capabilities & Restoration Workflow Fit

24/7 water mitigation dispatch (legacy CodeBlue scientific drying validation), roofing & exterior storm restoration network (legacy MADSKY), window inspection/replacement (legacy AccuWin), and Accuserve Premier contractor tiering.

Corporate Ownership & M&A Verification Note

Independent operating managed-repair TPA backed by private equity (Aquiline Capital Partners). UNIFIED ENTITY: In January 2023, Accuserve officially unified three legacy TPA brands—CodeBlue (water mitigation), MADSKY (roofing/exterior), and AccuWin (windows)—into the single Accuserve brand (codeblue360.com redirects directly to accuserve.com).

Procurement Due-Diligence & Field Watch-Outs

Audit Accuserve's drying-validation documentation requirements, daily psychrometric upload rules, program fee structures, and material/supplement approval cadence across water vs. roofing work orders.

Ecosystem & Software / Distribution Integrations

Accuserve Link One / contractor portals, Verisk XactAnalysis, IICRC-approved ASD training alignment, and homeowner financing options (Enhancify).

Practitioner Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Why are CodeBlue and MADSKY merged into Accuserve in this census?
In January 2023, Accuserve officially retired CodeBlue, MADSKY, and AccuWin as separate standalone brands and unified all three networks under Accuserve Solutions, Inc.; codeblue360.com redirects directly to accuserve.com.

Q: Why did the raw RIA/R&R scan list madsky.com incorrectly?
The raw scan CSV listed madsky.com (an unrelated 2002 personal memorial webpage) and madskymrp.com (unreachable); primary-source verification confirmed MADSKY operates inside accuserve.com.

Q: What distinguishes Accuserve's water mitigation program from generalist TPAs?
Inheriting CodeBlue's drying-validation heritage, Accuserve places heavy emphasis on verified psychrometric logs, IICRC ASD standards, and rapid first-notice water extraction.
